

ABSTRACT

A device that would allow you be a remote control to your television , satellite, cable or vcr and be a cordless telephone all at the same time. The device will allow the function of ringing and answering inbound calls and dialing of outbound numbers. It will also have the capabilities such as memory dialing, redial and other channels controls.